

Artist of the Month—Colleen Sova

Colleen attended Iowa State University as an advertising design major, but made the difficult decision to switch to a business degree in her senior year. After retiring from a long, but successful career in executive management, she returned to her first love, art. Colleen was attracted to the beauty, versatility, uniqueness and challenge of fused glass. Her works are mostly abstract, often simple in design but always complex in execution.

